Donald Cameron Is Missing

LANDSCAPE GARDENER

REPORTED MYSTERIOUSLY

MISSING FROM HIS HOME

That popular Scottish entertainer, bag-pipe player, landscape gardener, student of nature, and frequent contributor of commendable essays in these columns, Donald Cameron, is missing from his home on the Pacific Beach bluffs, near Bird Rock. He had been working for Miss Ellen Scripps on her estate at La Jolla and was last heard of on Tuesday morning about 8 o'clock, when he drove to Miss Scripps' place in his car to report for work. His keys were found in the ignition lock of his parked car, while other keys to the tool houses and his gardening implements were discovered in their proper places, when search was being made for him by his wife and friends, who had become alarmed at his continued absence on last Wednesday.

Authorities Notified

The police were notified of Mr. Cameron's disappearance and a county-wide search has been instituted for him. The theory of his being drowned has been dispelled by a thorough search of the seashore for two days.

His Description

The missing man is described as being 48 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 180 pounds and has a dark complexion, blue eyes and brown hair mixed with gray. He was wearing a soft green hat, brown sweater and white shirt, and a brown and yellow knitted tie.

MAILED LETTER TUESDAY

TO "THE BEACH NEWS"

"Don," as Mr. Cameron was familiarly called, often visited the office of The Beach News during his former residence in Ocean Beach, and has contributed numerous "Nature" essays to this newspaper. On the day of his reported disappearance he mailed a letter to the editor of The Beach News, the envelope bearing the La Jolla postmark at 12:30 p. m., March 18, and the short stories, "Nature's Art" and "Ambition," he sent on last Tuesday, are printed herewith, being put in type about the time he was first reported missing.

Some of his friends are of the opinion that Mr. Cameron has been afflicted with an attack of aphasia and has wandered off in the back country. He had a happy home-life and was a devoted husband and an affectionate father to his children. At the hour of going to press (Friday morning) the police report their search to be still without definite results.

MRS. BURKHARDT

INTRODUCING SPECIAL LINE OF TOILET GOODS

At her husband's cigar emporium on Newport avenue, next to the post-office, Mrs. LeRoy Burkhardt announces that she has just received a complete supply of toilet goods from the famous California Perfume Company of New York.

The new stock consists of soaps, shaving sticks, cold creams, toilet waters and perfumes. There is also some very nifty shaving sets for men, while baby's comfort is looked after with a dainty outfit of powders, soaps and creams. A special assortment of useful polishes and cleansers for furniture and autos has been added and all at popular prices.

Miss Garrett, piano instructor, announces that the student body will be entertained by the San Diego State Normal Girls' Glee Club Friday, March 28th. The Glee Club is under the direction of Mrs. Deborah Smith. Miss Smith will be the soloist. Miss Garfield will give readings and Mr. and Mrs. Waite will give selections on the violin and piano.

The annual inter-class track meet was held last Friday. Much interest is being shown in track this year, and the season promises to be a successful one. The cadet team will meet Coronado next Friday at Pacific Beach.

Lieut. H. C. Prudhom, drawing instructor and head of the naval reserve air division at the academy, announces that, beginning next week, the cadet reservists will be given instructions and flights at North Island, under his direction.

The annual senior March dance was given last Friday night at the La Jolla Woman's clubhouse. It was one of the largest dances of the year. Plans are now under way for the senior prom to be given at the close of the school year.

HEALTH BOARD

ISSUES PUBLIC WARNING

CONCERNING DOGS

The health office early this week instructed City Manager Rhodes, who is in charge of the city pound, to take up all stray dogs and have them killed, and to compel all owners of licensed dogs to keep them confined on the premises. A plan has been arranged to "vaccinate" licensed dogs, information on which process may be obtained at the health office at the city hall.

The following bulletin has been issued by the health board:

"Recently two cases of rabies in dogs have been discovered by the city health department. In order to prevent the possibility of further spread of this disease among animals and eventually to humans, as has occurred in other sections of the state, it will be necessary that the strictest precautionary measures be observed.

"The poundmaster will be instructed to collect all dogs running the streets, both with and without licenses. All dogs bearing licenses will be held for the owners, while all stray dogs bearing no license will be destroyed.

"All persons owning dogs are instructed to keep same confined to the premises and under no circumstances shall dogs be permitted at large.

"The health department has declared a quarantine on all dogs, licensed or otherwise.

"The public is advised that a serum is available for inoculating dogs against rabies. Full information relative to serum inoculation may be obtained by calling the city health department."

SIDEWALK PAVING

PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Scoop machines are cutting a swath in the sand dunes along Bacon street and through the intersecting avenues to the ocean front in preparation for sidewalk paving. Rapid progress has been made by the contractors in closing up the paving gaps in the residential section below De Foe street.

NINE O'CLOCK

By WINIFRED DAVIDSON

Point Loma, California

The Naval Training Station band blows red
With martial challenge to our warm spring air;
While lithe young gobs are drilling, drilling where Gray dust flies. Slime upon the channel bed
Three little years ago—this ground they tread—
Sucked up from Night along a tortuous stair:
Lost dust of ages vibrant in boys' hair,
Sun-hurried here . . . here to their quick feet spread.

Soft rookies sent from East and South and North
To break their boy-hearts' hold on other dust
Of other little towns, are they. Well worth
Their sweating tramp; well worth their mothers' trust
To Loma's reclamations. Let them forth
All men, a swift unconquerable host!

Contractor Drumm Seriously Injured

LUMBER TRUCK

CRUSHES CARPENTER'S

FOOT WHILE AT WORK

The well-known Ocean Beach carpenter and contractor, B. Drumm, of 4939 Muir avenue, was taken to St. Joseph hospital yesterday forenoon suffering with a badly mashed foot, caused through his being run over by a heavily laden lumber truck. Mr. Drumm was engaged at his work on the new Whitney Annex building when severely hurt. He was in a kneeling position on the edge of the sidewalk on Sixth street, between Broadway and E street, when the heavy auto crushed his extended foot. Mr. Drumm is said to have suffered excruciating pain and was quickly rushed to the hospital.

An X-ray examination will be made of the injured foot this morning and it is stated that amputation may be found necessary to prevent blood poisoning.

The license number of the lumber truck has been furnished to the authorities and action may be taken against the driver on the charge of recklessness and criminal carelessness.

OCEAN BEACH NINE

ADDS ANOTHER GAME

By "Doc" Kraft

Another victim fell before the mighty onslaught of base hits and free base running, administered by the Ocean Beach baseball nine last Sunday afternoon at the beach diamond on De Foe street.

The game started with the Neighborhood House boys putting two runs across in the first inning, by two hits and two errors. After that "Old Reliable Joe" had them eating out of his hand, only one man reaching second base after the first inning. It was a good pitcher's battle up to the fifth inning, when the Ocean Beach boys started. A base hit, followed by McNalley's home run, the longest hit ever made on the O. B. diamond, the ball rolling up the hill in deep left centerfield, tying the score. The O. B. boys came in every inning thereafter and scored at will.

FAMOUS WRITER,

YETTA KAY STODDARD,

BEGINS SERIES IN

THE BEACH NEWS

Mrs. Winifred Davidson, distinguished San Diego poet and prominent member of the local Writers' Club, whose pen name is Yetta Kay Stoddard and who was recently named national president of the American Literary Association, has been a resident of Point Loma for nearly twenty years.

During that time she has been gathering material of an intimate personal nature in regard to the life that has been lived here—from the last times when the gentle Indians fashioned the paths our feet are still taking to this day, from that blue-and-white day when Cabrillo's eyes opened with wonder upon our lovely hillside running down to the bay; from Chinese settlement days, Mormon exploring days—on and on—until she has now on paper and in her mind and heart a large amount of enthusiastic lore—"LOMA LORE"—she calls it for the present, and will publish it in weekly installments in THE BEACH NEWS, her first contribution being the splendid sonnet, "Nine O'clock," appearing in this issue.

PASSENGER INJURED

IN THREE-CORNERED

AUTO COLLISION

According to police reports, Mrs. A. Bagnall, of Richmond street, was treated for injuries received last Wednesday in a three-cornered auto collision north of the Old Town bridge.

Mrs. Bagnall is stated to have been a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. L. A. Dingle, 5028 Muir street, Ocean Beach, which was struck by a machine driven by Glenn E. Spriggs, 208 West Robinson street. Spriggs' automobile was in turn struck and demolished by a Hardy delivery truck bound in the opposite direction.

CONFERENCE ORDERED

TO SETTLE AUTHORITY

FOR SCHOOL PAVING

The city council has instructed City Manager Fred Rhodes to call a conference with the school board, the district attorney and the city attorney for the purpose of ascertaining "who's who," and "what's what," and the "why and the wherefore" concerning the responsibility for paving in front of school property. Meanwhile, the Santa Monica avenue paving proposition is at a standstill.

COL. D. C. COLLIER

RETURNS TO SAN DIEGO

FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Col. David Charles Collier, former director and president of San Diego's 1915-16 exposition and recently United States commissioner general of the Brazilian Centennial exposition at Rio de Janeiro, has arrived in San Diego after an absence of over six years, accompanied by his family, for a visit.

While Col. Collier is rather reticent it is stated in speaking of his efforts to boost San Diego in former days, it will be remembered by many citizens that he was instrumental in building the first street car line to Ocean Beach, in addition to aiding in numerous other civic developments.

FIRE PROTECTION WANTED

A committee has been appointed by the P. B. Community League to approach the city council with a plan for adequate fire protection throughout the district.

FIELD MICE

"Little ones," said Mother Field Mouse, "you must always be sure that the runways from your home burrow, here in this nice grassy nest, are kept clean and well brushed off."

"You never can tell when you may have to run from danger and it is always well to be prepared."

"You have many enemies, hawks and owls and snakes and coyotes and crows and many other enemies. So you must be always careful."

"Do not mind if they say you are a nuisance. Go ahead and have meals of clover and alfalfa and seeds and grain and vegetables. If any of you find your way to California there you will find nice raisins."

"Do not be sensitive if you speak of the harm you do."

"It is true that we do great harm to agriculture, but we do not let that upset us."

"Make up your mind that they are planting those things for you and do not worry."

"In the winter you may go through tunnels which you will learn how to build under the snow and you will go where there are nice feeding places."

"I Think You're Cunning."

"For some places are warm all winter and filled with good food."

"Do not mind if you destroy orchards by biting at the soft bark and the roots and the fruit."

"Do not be upset because some may say that that is wrong to do."

"Be as destructive as you want to be."

"Some mothers will talk to their children quite differently."

"They will tell their children to be good and kind and that they will be loved."

"I tell you to go ahead and do all the harm you can and if you have enemies, as you will have—just do your best to dodge them."

"That is the advice Mother Field Mouse gives you."

"Of course I think you're cunning little things, with your tiny eyes and your little appealing mouse ways."

"Few would agree with me, but you see I do not mind."

"I do not care who dislikes me or who dislikes my opinion."

"I do not want to be good and well loved."

"I want to eat of the best of the land—and dodge my enemies."

"That is the great thing for you to remember. To be watchful, to dodge, to remember that you cannot trust any of them."

"And tell the same to all the little mice children you may have. Let this be the advice to every field mouse for all time."

So the little field mice remembered what their mother had said to them, and they thought her advice was excellent.

And from the grassy home nest they went forth to eat of the best of the orchards and the gardens and the fields and to dodge, dodge, dodge their enemies, keeping ever a watchful eye out for them.

And they kept their runways clean, their burrows could always be quickly reached and their underground tunnels were wonderfully built.

As more mice arrived in the grassy nest always the Field Mouse Chief Rule was first taught to them: "Eat what you want whether people like it or not, but be quick to watch—and to dodge—and to run."

Ashanti's King Christian

King Kwaka Dua III of Ashanti, in Africa's darkest wilderness, has become a Christian, and as first token of his new faith has renounced all but one of his 3,383 wives.

It is said that human sacrifices ran into the tens of thousands during the latter part of his reign. On the outskirts of Coomassie, says the Detroit News, the jungle capital, stood the "crucifixion grove," to whose giant trees the victims were nailed to die in lingering agony, while the walls of the royal palace were built from piles of skulls.

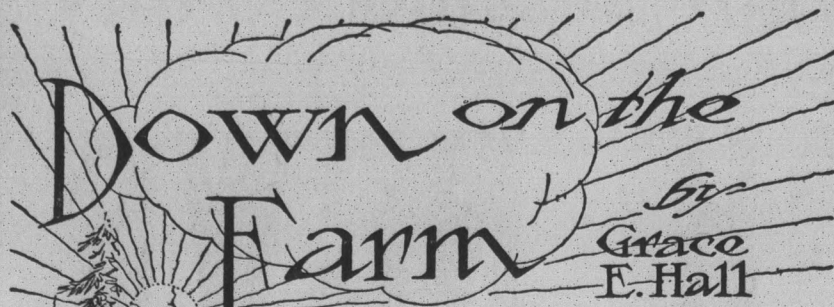

The British government told the king to tear down the palace because of the horrible odor of decaying flesh. The king then went to the chaplain and told him he wanted to become a Christian, but he was told that his harem was an objection.

The sunset flames across the western rim
In hues that baffle all the art of man;
A line of firs, tall silhouettes and slim,
Stand guard above the valleys that they scan;
The crow, with one lasting, lingering caw, flies low,
The trees in unison sway restlessly,
And in the hush of twilight seems to grow
A sense of loss that holds one breathlessly.

The old folks go about the evening work
Upon the farm, their routine as of old,
No minor detail overlook, or shirk,
No voiced complaint to listening ear e'er told;
They plod the paths ambition first surveyed
When little children romped beside the door;
Alone, they face the twilight, bent and grayed,
Their plans fulfilled—and asking nothing more.

But oh! there is a heartache in the scene,
The empty house where youthful voices were,
The verdant acres where the grain is green
Speak of stalwart sons, while night winds stir
The memory of a grave upon the hill;
The whispering of the evening is a prayer,
There is a tensy of silence; still
The voices of the past are in the air.

And in the distant city's rush and roar,
Caught by its tides and tangled in its net,
Are those who played beside that farmhouse door,
And oh, the tragedy—when they forget!

PRODUCES GRECIAN MASTER-PIECE BEYOND COMPARE

What a wondrous moment it was up in the midst of Lomaland last Saturday evening, when the fearful "Furies" were entrancingly transformed into the exquisite "Eumenides." The occasion marked the beautiful production of the great Grecian drama before a large and appreciative audience in the Greek Theatre on Point Loma. Intelligently interpreted by the students of the Theosophical University, under the wonderful personal direction of Mme. Katherine Tingley, "The Eumenides" proved a masterpiece beyond compare.

MARIE ELIZABETH'S TWELFTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Charles S. Moore of 4775 Narragansett avenue, assisted by her sister, Mrs. G. Finlon of San Diego, gave a delightful party last Friday in honor of her charming young daughter, Marie Elizabeth's twelfth birthday. The young lady has never missed a party since her first one and is a native daughter of Point Loma. She received many pretty gifts.

Delicious birthday cake and ice cream bricks were served. At each plate was a dainty place card and chocolate Easter rabbits with colored Easter eggs. Group pictures of all guests present were taken, after which games and dancing were enjoyed. The following guests were present: Rose Scott of San Diego, Agnes Castien, Lola Greer, Alice Faherty, Martha Howell, Willis Kenline, John Castien, Lorene Shirton, Louis Tarrington, Bud Shirton and Walter Moore.

VISITORS FROM LA JOLLA

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Davis are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. E. W. Krauch and her little daughter, Betty this week. Mr. Krauch, golf editor of the Los Angeles Evening Herald, is also here, covering a golf tournament at Chula Vista. The Krauchs expect to motor back to Los Angeles Saturday.

GUESTS ENJOY PICNIC

Mrs. C. M. Cole of 5069 Long Branch avenue, entertained last Thursday afternoon with a picnic at the old Spanish Lighthouse, in honor of Mrs. Ada M. Wolfe and daughter of Stockton. Mrs. Wolfe is grand chief of Pythian Sisters of California. The guests are officers of Woodbine Temple 36, Pythian Sisters, and were as follows: Mesdames Etta Benz, R. D. Lane, Paul Shultz, I. E. Dayton, J. C. Hartley, E. W. Baecht, R. N. Brown, J. D. Stewart, N. Martin, B. Link.

BLUEJACKETS GOING OVERSEAS

SMALL DOGS

SAID TO BE THE BEST

BURGLAR ALARMS

The recognition of the value of the dog as a burglar alarm by the National Bureau of Casualty and Safety Underwriters comes rather tardily. More than thirty years ago Robert Pinkerton said that the best possible home protector was a small dog, the kind that believed to bark and run away meant to live to bark another day. Such an animal, Mr. Pinkerton said, could neither be cajoled or killed or in any other way silenced, wherein lay his decided advantage over the much lauded watchdog, who was prone to match his brute strength and brain against those of the man to the animals certain defeat and his master's loss.

Incidentally, Mr. Pinkerton said that where one did not have a small dog handy, but still desired to protect himself from night prowlers, the best thing to do was to lay open newspapers on the floor, since there was no known means by which they could be removed or crossed which would not waken the soundest sleeper.

Mrs. Frederick A. Colby, of 4741 Orchard street, passed away yesterday morning, Thursday, March 20, at 4 a. m., after an illness of about four weeks of heart trouble. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, and her daughter, Mrs. Caldwell, all of Ocean Beach.

LONG BEACH VISITORS

An enjoyable St. Patrick's party was given last Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Insley of 4650 Del Monte avenue, in honor of their son, Mr. Howard Herbst and Miss Marie Heuck, who motored here from Long Beach. The decorations were appropriate to the occasion and a delightful time was had by all. Those present, besides the honor guests, were Mr. and Mrs. Brott and Mr. and Mrs. Insley. Mr. Herbst and Miss Heuck returned to Long Beach last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. White, formerly of Los Angeles, have moved here and are at present residing with Mr. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Storm at 4856 Saratoga avenue.

OIL MEN SWAP

At the customary prize drawing by the P. B. Community League, the winner of this week was Mr. Jackson, a well known gas and oil man, the prize being five gallons of gas and a quart of oil, the same being donated by R. B. Legg, another prominent gas and oil man, all of Pacific Beach.

cellent community weekly has grown steadily and solidly into a standard six-column, eight-page newspaper, with all the ear-marks of deserved success. Keep the pot a-boiling, "Bunny," and may the steam of prosperity blow the lid sky-high!

Gas Heat is ECONOMICAL

FAR MORE IMPORTANT than any consideration of the cost of a commodity or service is the question of value. What are you getting for your money?

WHEN You Use GAS for Heating your home, you get full value for the money you spend. You get not only heat, but a complete heating service.

CONSIDER the Cost of heating with gas during the entire season—and remember, when you have paid your gas bill, that you have paid for storing and handling the fuel, disposing of waste products, firing the furnace, and all other incidental expenses—and you will find it the most economical of heating methods.

Nature's Art

By Donald Cameron

What a myriad of little pictures display themselves to the mind's eye from the numerous little storage cells at the thought of that word Art. It carries us back to the days when we went stalking deer, crawling up coolies, round rocks, making sure the wind was favorable, struggling to get within range to be disappointed at the critical moment by the warning call of a grouse or plover. The jumping up of hare or fox, rewarded for our efforts by hearing a whistle from the nose of an old buck standing off by himself. The Jacobite—a swear word under our breath, no word of sympathy for that rebel, Art. His the satisfaction of drawing the various bands together, leading or driving them to pastures new. Art, casting a line over the rippling stream to catch the eye of the artful trout, setting a trap for otter or weasel, artfully hidden, and the mind's eye has a picture of that foot pressing down the tongue as you carefully cover it. But man cannot cover what God would reveal. Nature's garden the very fount of knowledge.
The great educator, the Master of Art, always there to keep us well supplied if we only used discretion.
With a sigh we turn to man's garden, standing on the dividing line, to earn our bread by the sweat of our brow. The bottom of all system.
Still, Nature's God is there, life in every leaf, every twig.

AMBITION

The world may kill a man's ambition to help nature to display herself in all her glory according to knowledge and learning derived from nature. But the worldly striving to overcome in a short length of time what takes years of study and work, only strengthens man's faith and pride in the living God—Nature, life, love.

DONALD CAMERON.

ABLE CHAMPION

ARISES TO DEFEND

CATS AND DOGS

Editor "The Beach News."

Answering these persons who complained so bitterly through the columns of your paper, about the cat and dog concerts held nightly in Ocean Beach, wish to say that I believe their complaints to be symptoms of badly frazzled nerves.

To a healthy person the joyous barking of a playful pup or the matrimonial "mew-sings" of a bunch of frisky felines are as music, finer even than the soulful ukulele or the jazzful saxophone.

What is more tuneful and inspiring than the con-CAT-enations of a couple of large, husky felines as they give vent to their amorous longings on the backyard fence?

Many a night when the moon was full, and I wasn't, have I listened at the window of my little sea-side cabin, the name of which is "Cat's Whiskers," to the thrilling calls of Tom for his Maria. And with what intense interest have I waited for her musical answer. Sometimes when they came closer and I could see their gooseberry eyes roll in the ecstasies of love have I almost (not quite, however,) wished I was a Thomas out there on the backyard fence calling my M-a-r-i-a.

As for the dog, abler men than I have defended him, the one creature which will stick to man through thick and thin. How can anyone advocate his destruction?

I am acquainted with a man who will monkey with a "tin Lizzie" all day, endure its stench and fumes, listen to its roar and the knockings of its bum engine and think he has had a fine time—BUT—who will froth at the mouth if a hen cackles when it is laying an egg for him to eat. If his wife's cat purrs or his dog barks, they get a kick in the slats. I have often heard him say to his wife: "Mary, I can't stand the terrible chirping of your canary." THAT MAN IS SICK. So are all men, and women, too, who "strain at a cat and swallow a tin Lizzie."

Get back to a natural way of living and NATURAL NOISES will not annoy.

Animals were put here for some wise purpose and the person who would improve on the Creator's work or suppress it, is indeed a "WISE GUY."

CATO.

SURE REMEDY

RECOMMENDED HERE FOR

CAT NOISES

Editor "The Beach News."

A little over two weeks ago Mother Nature asserted herself and gave us a truly wonderful sight, thousands of painted ladies (butterflies) passed over this fair peninsula, looking in at our doors, gazing at our flower gardens, but never pausing, on their long journey from old Mexico to possibly the angel city, to our north.

"Spring is here," I remarked to my good wife, and sure enough when the esteemed "Beach News" came in, my words were confirmed. Right on the front page was the news, but alas, not of spring, not about the beautiful butterflies as I had expected, but this "kill the cats," "sat-tanic music," etc.

Delving into my back numbers of the "Beach News" I found that same time last year, the cry being, "kill the dogs." How the cats escaped then I know not, maybe they were on their good behavior. In April last year, dogs and bathers were condemned by "Zenias" and "Mother of Six," but not a word about cats.

Spring is here, whether it is cats, dogs, or bathers. Now for my sure remedy:

Seeing that cats are the paramount issue this year, I will only deal with them.

During the World War the army in France had the same problem as we have, only it was the braying of the ass; so they just cut the bray out and all was serene.

Now, as you can't tag the cat, they won't just stand for it, the only thing that remains for us to do is to cut out the noise! This done I believe that the cats would be less catish! SEMPER FIDELIS.

GARNET AVENUE

PAVING ORDERED

The city council this week adopted a recommendation by City Manager Fred Rhodes for the paving of Garnet Avenue. It is stated that some property owners had wanted the street paved to a width of 52 feet, from Case Avenue to the ocean front, but, on account of some of the sidewalks being 20 feet wide, Manager Rhodes held that would be unwise.

"Madame County Superintendent, I Should Say—" get down among the people. It's the only way I have of getting the truth."

She descended from the bench, shook hands with everybody near her, and sat down by the attorney's table. "Now," said she, "this is no formal proceeding and we will dispense with red tape. If we don't, I shall get all tangled up in it. Where's Mr. Irwin? Please come in here, Jim. Now, I know there's some feeling in these things—there always seems to be; but I have none. So I'll just hear why Mr. Bronson, Mr. Peterson and Mr. Bonner think that Mr. James E. Irwin isn't competent to hold a certificate."

CHAPTER XI

Fame or Notoriety.

The office of county superintendent was, as a matter of course, the least desirable room of the courthouse. Poor Jennie! She anticipated nothing more than the appearance of Messrs. Bronson, Peterson and Bonner in her office to confront Jim Irwin. But at nine fifty-six the crowd in Jennie's office exceeded its seating capacity, and Jennie was in a flutter as the realization dawned upon her that this promised to be a bigger and more public affair than she had anticipated.

At nine fifty-nine Raymond Slims opened the office door and there filed in enough children, large and small, to fill the room. In addition there remained an overflow meeting in the hall, under the command of that distinguished military gentleman, Colonel Albert Woodruff.

"Say, Bill, come here," said the colonel, crooking his finger at the deputy sheriff.

"What you got here, Al?" said Bill, coming up the stairs, puffing. "Ain't it a little early for Sunday school piousness?"

"This is a school fight in our district," said the colonel. "It's Jennie's baptism of fire, I reckon . . . and say, you're not using the courtroom, are you?"

"Nope," said Bill.

"Well, why not just slip around, then," said the colonel, "and tell Jennie she'd better adjourn to the big room."

Which suggestion was acted upon instantly by Deputy Bill.

"But I can't, I can't," said Jennie to the courteous deputy sheriff. "I don't want all this publicity, and I don't want to go into the courtroom."

"I hardly see," said Deputy Bill, "how you can avoid it. These people seem to have business with you, and they can't get into your office."

Jennie quailed. "All right, all right!" said she. "But, shall I have to sit on the bench?"

"You will find it by far the most convenient place," said Deputy Bill. Was this the life to which public office had brought her? She was perched on the judicial bench, which Deputy Bill had dusted off for her, tipping a wink to the assemblage while doing it. And that crowd! To Jennie it was appalling. The school board under the lead of Wilbur Smythe took seats inside the railing. Jim Irwin, who had never been in a courtroom before, herded with the crowd.

She couldn't call the gathering to order. She had no idea as to the proper procedure. She sat there while the people gathered, stood about whispering and talking under their breaths, and finally became silent, all their eyes fixed on her, as she wished that the office of county superintendent had been abolished in the days of her parents' infancy.

"May it please the court," said Wilbur Smythe, standing before the bar. "Or, Madame County Superintendent, I should say . . ."

A titter ran through the room, and a flush of temper tinted Jennie's face. They were laughing at her! She wouldn't be a spectacle any longer! So she rose, and handed down her first and last decision from the bench—a rather good one, I think.

"Mr. Smythe," said she, "I feel very ill at ease up here, and I'm going to
